Residential - Warranty Coverage and Exclusions

Wood flooring is a natural product made from living trees, which are uniquely characterized by variations in grain and color. These variations are not flaws, but part of the beauty of authentic wood. Real wood may also change in color over a period of time depending on specie and exposure to UV, this is not considered to be a flaw or a defect.

Warranty coverage

1. Flooring to be free from manufacturing defects in milling, and assembly when installed and maintained properly in your home in accordance with the guidelines prescribed by the NWFA.
2. The floor finish will not wear through when installed and maintained properly in your home for at least five years. Flooring can be lightly screened and recoated with a clear coat of finish when it is starting to dull, usually within five years but sometimes longer depending on wear and traffic, this is normal for any wood flooring and is not considered a defect.
